Tip 2

3-Bet Wider from Late Position

Once you have some weight on the felt, you can throw it around a little

&#127772; by 3-betting more frequently, but pay attention to position. t;

When you have the advantage of position and a deep stack, you &#127772;

want to 3-bet a very wide range of hands. Even if your opponent is holding AK or QQ, they will &#127772; not be overly enthusiastic about stacking up against you when they are also deep. If you 3-bet a wide range &#127772; of prospectiv e hands in position, even when our opponent does call, you will find yourself in very good shape.

Against weaker &#127772; players you can widen your range of 3-bet han ds considerably. Any suited court cards will make a fine 3-bet, in &#127772; po sition, keeping in mind the table composition and the depth of your stack. You m ight even start including mid suited &#127772; connectors and suited aces if yo u feel confident.

Out of position, more caution is needed. Generally, you want to 3-bet b luff &#127772; less frequently when your opponents are adapting to the deeper s tack sizes. The deeper the stacks, the narrower your all-in &#127772; range get s and that makes you more vulnerable to 4-bet bluffs.

In addition, you are also going to see your &#127772; opponents flatt

ing ranges widen significantly, and hence your fold equity reduced.

However, the above assumes your opponents will adapt correctly. If &#12

7772; they don't, then carry on as normal and replace any KTo hands with their prospective 78s equivalents.
